Nippon Signal Co., Ltd

Nippon Signal has received an order from Railway Bureau, MOTC of Taiwan for the construction of an electronic interlocking system for the elevation of the Chiayi City Railway in Taiwan.

This project includes (1) the elevation of railway tracks from the Chiayi Station area to the Jiabei Station area in central Taiwan, (2) the construction of a new Tropic of Cancer Station, and (3) new Shuishang rolling stock yard and the renewal of the railway signalling system associated with the construction.

Our company is in charge of all signalling systems. Our company will supply and install electronic interlocking system, train detection system, intermediate block devices, level crossing equipment, electric point machine, etc.

Completion of this construction will result in a reduction of railroad crossings due to the elevation of railway tracks (Reduction of level crossing accidents and traffic congestion), commercial and environmental development around Chiayi Station, and the improve of convenient access for sightseeing at Tropic of Cancer Station.

This construction work will elevate the existing line without stopping its operation, there will be a number of linear changes resulting in a highly level signalling system change.

Our company has experience in approximately 50 projects in Taiwan, and has experience in renewing existing facilities in many of these projects. We will steadily implement this project by making use of our experience and knowledge.

In recent years, the Taiwan has focused on the development and modernization of the railway infrastructure, which is the foundation of economic development, and our company will contribute to realizing a safer and more comfortable society through its safe and reliable superior technologies.
